"The best thing he ever taught me..

Carla went on to study fine art at Blackpool college, learning about life drawing, paint and sculpture before studying design and interiors at Manchester metropolitan university. During that time she would work under the mentorship of the late Phillippe Aird at the Pheonix galleries in Hulme. Her mentor, an abstract artist known for his resin pouring work, was mentored by LS Lowry and he drew inspiration from his work. Phil, as she called him, taught the 19 year old Carla about canvas building, large scale abstracts and paint techniques. "He was so free with his painting. He would let the work come alive by allowing the paint to move organically. The best thing he ever taught me".

Words David Sands Photography Carla Raads Art Lounge International

Now for those of you interested to learn more about emerging artists please read on. Art Lounge International is delighted to announce we will be working with new contemporary artist Carla Raads. Carla is an emerging talent that has been on our radar for a while now and we are so excited to be representing her at the gallery. Carla is a true beach girl at heart and was born and raised on the Eastern Cape coast of South Africa and spent nearly everyday amongst the sand and waves. She comments -"for me it's the sound, the rise of the tide and the crash of the waves. It's the thunder". At 16 she would leave South Africa in search of a new life in the UK. Always drawn to the sea, she and her family settled on the Fylde coast. "I was grateful to live near the sea, the familiarity of the beach made it feel more like home".

CARLA RAADS:

IT IS VERY IMPORTANT THAT YOU STAY TRUE TO YOURSELF.

I STARTED PAINTING WITH MY HANDS IN A DARK TIME OF MY LIFE...

After university Carla left her art and pursued a career in modelling. She worked for 12 years as a full time model before returning to art in 2017. "I hadn't painted in years! I was pregnant and not modelling. I don't know why but one day I had an incredible desire to paint, and not with brushes. I remember getting an old canvas and pouring the paint straight onto my hands. I would paint fast and aggressively and only the sea, like I was in it. Just with my hands, imitating the movement and crash of the wave. I am grateful for the time away from art, I have returned a different artist. Raads continues to paint seascapes along with skyscapes and landscapes. The work is emotional and some actionable, she draws inspiration from Mother Nature's moods and relates them to her own, some powerful and bold, some still and isolating. She hopes to draw out the emotional response in the viewer. She works on canvas that she hand stretches, with acrylic, spray paint and varnish. Each piece is signed with her unique hand print on reverse, framed and unframed.

"Carla Raads is the one to watch,a unique emerging artistic talent with a real tanacity to succeed."
